A MEMORIAL from MU-T'U SHAN, the Military Gazette of the 22nd ultimo, affords some further information with respect to the gradual overflow of the Chinese population of the northern provinces into Mancharia, Kiria is a province of Manchuria, and was formerly been a recruiting field for the army, and no civilian authorities were at une time stationed there. But the influx of Chinese immigrants, which commenced some sixty or seventy years since, made it necessary that bis death which occurred two hours afterwards. three sub-prefects, two of a higher and one of an inferior degree, should be stationed in the province, together with some minor officials, for the special purpose of adjudicating the questions that might arise between the Munchus and Chinese. But this arrangement his now proved inadequate, owing to the great increase of the Chinese population, and the Military Governor reports that the lack of a sufficient proportion of officials has made itself injuriously felt, and changes and additions to the staff are decidedly called for. the subject are not in all respects fensible.

The subject is not a particularly pleasant of inviting one, but it is of some importance, which must be sufficient excuse for our adverting to it. Dr. WHARBY had, it seems, preserved the contents of the deceased's stomach in a jar for analysis and to make the analysis, however, be found it had been thrown away. The result was that an important piece of evidence was completely lost. Dr. WHARRY stated that the dispenser had never thrown any. thing away before without asking. to have asked whether he might throw it away. There ought to be some rule haid down for the future whereby accidents may be avoided. In instance, the analysis would probably but that has nothing to do with the general argument. The same thing might have bappened in a case where it would have proved the one link in the chain of evidence needed to bring home the crime to some person. The medical evidence in all such cases is of the highest importance, and nothing in connection with post-mortem examinations should be left to chance. It is to be hoped that the circumstance may serve as a warning for the future, and that some stringent rules for the guidance of the dis penser in such matters may be framed.

THE Japanese Government, though very tardy in taking action against the manufacturers and vendors of spurious drugs and foreign medicines, has at length, it is grahifying to learn, resolved to protest its subjects from imposition and foreigners from to make a descent upon some of the vendors patentees are made responsible, greatly to natives of the Land of the Rising Sun. was high time that some-proceedings of the sort were initiated for the evil had assumed serious proportions in Yokohama and Tokio. CHINESE SERVANTS.

The very limited extent to which Chinese is studied by foreigners resident at the open porte has one most unpleasant but perfectly natural rounds. The native servants use language in the Nicholas Murphy. This reprint brings down using, did foreigners understand. As the versity College, Durnam, will shortly publish author of " Glimpses of Travel " wittily observes, the Obinese do not "swear," owing to a defective theology; but they do not soruple to give utterance to the grossest obscenities in speaking one to another, and that in the ast of waiting upon their foreign masters. Nor are their modes of expression in speaking of their emoloyers in any way less objectionable. It is not at all neugual for a house-boy, in reply to the question of a visitor, to bawl out to the coolie or rate man-" Is the woman at home?"-refer ing, of course to the lady of the house: while the mak-names which pass current among them, applied to their masters and mistresses, are a perfect study. " The small devil "-" the four-eyed dog "—the gentlman referred to being in the babit of paering over his spectacles—are mong the most complimentary of the series others are quite unreproducible. Such a thing would be impossible in India or Japan, where verybody understands the native dialect. Here, the servants take advantage of their mastere ignorance; even pushing their effrontory so far, in some houses, as to wait at table short coats and expos d nother-garments, which s just as great an outrage upon decency as it a European footman were to present himself in to drawing-room in his shirt-sleaves, or confined his allowance of broudcloth entirely to whistcoat and a incket. Some servante, again, address their musters acceremoniously as "yon" -instead of speaking in the third person, with the respect they would show to a Chinese gentle man. But while foreigners permit such laches we can hardly blame the natives for taking advantage of their nonchalance. If it be true n Europe, even, that no man is a hero to hi valet, it is painful to contemplate the poor figure be must out out here, in the eyes of his house boy or his cook.—Shanaksi Courier.

THE QUEEN'S ADVISERS.

It is now, says Vanity Fair, very well under stood, and, indeed, it was industriously conveyed to all members of the House of Commons just before the late division, that the idea of making an Imperial addition to the Royal title originated with her Majesty; and the division list itself shows that those members are of this opinion who might be expected to bave their mot d'ordre from the Court, and to be anxious to show a lively gratitude for past or a lively expectation of future Court favours. Moreover, it is equally olear that in spite of the so-called " success " of the Government, the project has proved a fiason, for the unanimity which sould alone make the assumption of the title decent Vino, in the Academy's possession. It is inand proper, has been markedly wantingbrevet rank of "Imperial Highness," has been perforce abandoned in the face of the strong of Continental precedence. The fact is officially announced that the additions, if any, are not to affect these points, and the whole project vanishes in a cloud of extra verbiage and popular contempt.

The Italian Government have decided on the restoration of the ancient churches of Cimitite. They are five in number, and are said to be the most ancient Christian temples in Europe.

They date from the fourth century, and contain many remarkable early mural paintings and sen pture.—Academy. Mr. L. Fildes, whose picture of "The Casuale" attracted much attention two years ago, will this year contribute an important work to the Royal Academy Exhibition. The title of the picture is "The Widower," and the scene a cottage interior. It is reported that Mr. Fildes has received £1,800 for this work. A volume of Essays, by various writers, on the "Endowment of Research," was to be issued by Mesers. King and Co., early in April. The contributors are the Rev. Mark Pattison, . S. Cotton, C. E. Appleton, Rev. A. H. Sayor, Henry Nettleahip, H. C. Sorby, F.R.S., Rev. T.

ARDIOOSAN BILL

More than a hundred years ago a man-of-war named the Glitus was wrenked on the cast coast, and from the materials raved from the wreek, the brig Clims, of Ardrospan, was built. The years became the property of Mr. Win, Millar, Salicoats, and in the great storm of Fabruary. 1839, along with other $2 vessels, she was driven abhoro on the Troop coast. The eldest daughter of the owner, Mies Elizabeth Millar, was induced to take charge of the repairs on the vousel, and she displayed so much business aptitude on that consion that an interested rentleman (the late Mr. Finnie, Kilmarnouk), NOWTH GERMAN FIRE INSURANCE personned her to take oriminand of the brig. Miss Millar did so; and for the long period of 22 years, in all-weathers, she discharged her ITAE Undersigned, Agents for the above peculiar duties with no small amount of ability, L. She fied in 1864 at Saltooute, and the old Oline became the breadwinner of two surviving sisters; but the sale of the result recently has, of course, deprived them of this source of livelihood. Betsy's mine was favourably mentioned in the House of Lords by tho late lamented Earl of Eglinton, when the Merchant Shipping Act of 1854 was under disquestion, and she also received honourable mention in the House of Commons about the same time. The Chitus was recently condemned by QUEEN FIRE INSURANCE COMPAN the Board of Trade, and she has just been sol by auction for the sum of £122, Mr. Symington being the auctioneer.

NATIVE CHRISTIANS IN INDIA. The rioverty of the native Christian Churches in India has often been remarked, and deployed chiefly-because it keeps them in a state of continned dependence on European assistance, and prevents the growth of a vigorous independent native Church of India. "It may have occurred to an individual bere and there of antiquisted notions, that the blessing on the poor, pronounced by the Founder of Curistianity, might perhaps counterbulance the evils arising from pared to accept risks against Hire at ourren poverty, and that, if in any country it might be rates, subject to a bonus of 20 per cent. possible to apply the enconomic principles laid down in the Sermon on the Mount, they might be applied in India. These, however, are oldworld nations, but Mr. Rice has atoted at Bangalore a new objection to the presence of wealthy members in native churches, which deserves to be recorded. At the meeting of nutive Christians held lately at Bangalore, the poverty of 'the' generality of the natives was mentioned as one reason why the native Christion community was not increasing. We should have answered that poverty is a strange obstacle to the spread of Ohristianity which used to be considered as prominently a religion for THREE and ONE THIRD PER CENT the poor. But a more remarkable, and perhaps more practical answer was given by Mr. Rice, who observed that "rich and well-to-do Christians were the great cylls a Church could have; there instead of telling their missionaries what they think, write anonymously to the papers, and even do not make a salaam to the missionary who materially helped to place them in their present good positions." This is base ingratitude surely I. But why do those well-to-do Christians write unonymously to the press about their grievances, and refuse to make a salaam to the airseionary f Either they are very wicked or the missionary treats them supercilionaly. The salaam question ought to be gravely considered. If such a spirit gets abroad among native Christians, how can India be evangelised? -Friend of India.
